

Holiday Zoom Call Cheat Sheet

Tips to Add Cheer and Joy to Your Zoom Calls

TIP ONE: DESIGNATE A ZOOM BOSS

A boss creates and sends out the agenda ( the agenda includes topics to talk about, activities to do) and they are the key to keeping the conversation on track, keeping the rambunctious & overly verbose under control, and encouraging the quiet ones to participate. I recommend choosing yourself for this position. Also, the mute button is a powerful tool, don't forget to use it. Nothing is worse than too many people trying to speak at once!

TIP TWO: PICK A COUPLE IDEAS FROM THIS LIST TO INFUSE SPIRIT, MEANING, & JOCULARITY INTO YOUR ZOOM MEETING

- Kick the party off with a couple group songs! Provide lyrics to maximize participation. Add a tambourine, a harmonica, beat a kitchen pan with a wooden spoon,...make it crazy and wild!
- Read (with inflection/passion/humor) excerpts from favorite holiday books.
- Takes turns sharing a photo or video of your decorated home or kids. Add snarky commentary.
- Family Cook-off. Version 1: Participants make the same item, show it off, then eat it together. Version 2: Participants make a unique dish and eat it together.
- Dress up in hilarious costumes and wigs. Pick a theme.
- Play a visual game like Charades or Pictionary. (More ideas)
- Share a sweet and a funny holiday 60 second memory. (Moderator, you're the timekeeper. I like to use an obnoxious buzzer app).
- Send each other a white elephant gift and open together.
- Demonstrate a funny skill you've developed during the Pandemic. (Me: epic sparkling water burps).
- Share a new skill or project you are working on during the Pandemic.
- Describe your favorite winter ritual. (fireplaces and hot cocoa, warming up your flannel sheets, chopping wood in your long underwear....)
- Tell a joke or show a funny clip.
- Share a moving memory of your grandparents. (script it to make it good!)
- Dance Party! Play a fun song and direct everyone to stand-up and shake their booty.
- Talent show! (And I don't mean just the performing art talents!)
- Start planning a family get-together for 2021. Assign a leader. I recommend choosing yourself. Make a list, delegate the tasks, set deadlines.
- Plan a family donation project. Yep, someone does need to be in charge. Why not you?
- Karaoke competition! Air guitar?
- End with a group prayer/meditation/cheer/laugh!

Screen share is available for showing slides and video clips. There are tons of YouTube videos on these things, so do your research. And, always test out technology prior to the event. Lastly, remember that Zoom Basic (the free plan) has a 40 minute time limit. If a family member has Zoom Pro then you can talk and stare at each other all day long.
